

60 Seconds to Fame

“Hide not your talents. They for use were made.
What’s a sundial in the shade? ”

60 Seconds to Fame is a platform for individuals to showcase their talent in 60 seconds on stage. It serves to test the finesse and skill which is a good test to judge a person’s talent. Judges will test a participant’s skill as per well-defined criteria as decided by the judges. This is one event that has something for everybody, even if you have absolutely no talent (Hey! Paris Hilton has no talent either) It is much enjoyed by the audience as well. The range of performances vary from singing, dancing, mono acting, skits, people stripping, wearing saris, belly dancing, gangam style-ing, juggling, playing ‘Drifting’ on guitars, gymnastics, imitations of professors and actors, reciting poems, telling jokes, Harlem Shake-ing and so much more.

Event Description: The performer or a group of performers have to go up onstage and do absolutely anything that the crowd and the judges like in the few seconds allotted.

Max participants: 2

RULES:

The rules are simple-

1. Every participant would be given exactly 60 seconds to perform on stage. In case any participant wants to perform 2 items of different types, such as singing and dancing, he/she would still be given only 60 seconds to perform both.
2. A participant can perform only once. Exceeding the time limit would lead to disqualification. The participants must get their own props to perform. The judges' decision would be final and binding.
3. The performance of the contestant must not contain any obscene words/any subject that hurts the feelings of a culture/language/religion/region.
4. Negative marking for any disobedience of rules.
5. The decision of the judge is final and abiding.

Prize:

Top 3 performances will be awarded with surprise gifts.
